Policy on Alumni Engagement

Government Degree College for Women, Begumpet believes in maintaining a vigorous and positive relationship with the former passed out students of the college, for the reason that active alumni participation is jointly beneficial. When the old students have an emotional connection with their alma mater, they will have a desire to maintain a relationship with their institution. A happy and efficacious alumni community can contribute to the development of the institution in several ways.

Rationale:

A policy document on alumni participation is needed because it provides a blueprint for all alumni-related activities. The college encourages alumni to participate in various activities related to academics, student guidance, and improving the infrastructure. These efforts will also prove to be a positive experience for older students. An active alumni community will be a valuable asset of the institution, as it will be a link that connects generations of students, thus laying a solid foundation for all academic, administrative, and quality-related activities of the college.

Statement of Policy:

The college will try to build and nurture an active network of alumni. Those alumni will be prompted to offer returned to their alma mater via mentoring the present students; providing skill development training; extending profession steerage; etc. The alumni can act as brand ambassadors and assist in improving the image of the college by means of canvassing it.

Aims:

- To foster a strong and binding alumni engagement
- To motivate the alumni to extend their services for the benefit of the institution and encourage them to contribute, financially or non-financially, to the development of the institution
- To instill a sense of pride and loyalty among the old students as this will provide the necessary motivation and emotional investment, thus encouraging them to 'give back' to the institution.
- To make current students feel valued, as this will help in building relationships that last long even after they graduate.
- To solicit feedback from alumni on curriculum, institutional facilities, etc., and utilize it for improvement.
- To take up the formal registration of the Alumni Association.

Implementation:Contribution in academic matters:

The alumni community has proved to be most enthusiastic in contributing to the institution college in academic matters. A few of them have come forward to render their services by delivering lectures on important topics to their juniors. The college also collects feedback from the old students on the curriculum and utilizes it for quality enrichment. Feedback is also collected from the alumni on the overall performance of the institution and suggestions on improvements, if any, are made a note of to bring in the needed changes.

Membership:

Successors among the old students were invited to the college in order to share their experiences and struggles. The success stories of alumni were a source of inspiration and the students were encouraged to take them as their role models.

Skill development:

Few of the alumni are actively involved in college providing skill-based training to their juniors. The juniors also get a chance to bond with their seniors and learn few things from them.

Mobilization of resources:

Though the alumni have not made any specific financial contribution, they are very proactive and eager to participate in activities related to mobilization of resources for college. They accompanied the staff of the college whenever the latter approached public representatives and philanthropists.

Community Awareness:

Few of the alumni have taken up the challenge of creating focus in the community regarding the activities and achievements of the college.
