Dept. of Biotechnology and Zoology

WORKSHOP AND TRAINING ON BIOMOLECULAR TECHNIQUES

dt:14-11-2022

Keeping in view of many newly erected diseases related to genetics, the Department of Zoology organized “workshop on Molecular Biology Techniques” to get aware of various techniques and its uses for the students. Molecular Biology primarily concerns understanding the interactions between the various systems of a cell including the interactions between DNA, RNA and protein synthesis as well as learning how these interactions are regulated. It provides an in-depth understanding of the mechanisms related to the cell's physiology and survival. While the classical methods retain their importance, the high fidelity techniques of molecular biology gather additional corroborative, reliable and reproducible data.

Objective of the program: Molecular biology pertains to the study of living systems at the DNA, RNA, protein levels and how these molecules can be modified and harassed for practical applications. Knowledge of the natural function of these molecules in the cell provides a context appropriate for further advancement in the rapidly expanding areas of functional genomics, cell biology, biotechnology, microbiology, diagnostics, therapeutics and personalized medicine.

Outcome of the program: Students will understand about molecular diagnosis using nucleic acids (DNA or RNA) is not only limited to medicine, but can be applied in so many diverse fields

The final year students of BtZC(50) attended a workshop on Molecular and Clinical Genetics, the workshop included various techniques like genetic counseling, isolation of DNA, proteins, comet assay, techniques like Ultrasound and karyotyping in identification of genetic diseases.,1. DNA isolation ,2. Agarose gel electrophoresis 3. pcr4. T3 ,T4,TSH profile,5. ESR,6. Pedigree analysis,7. Observing down syndrome patients in the presence of a doctor,8. FISH,9. Chromosome analysis.

The Director of Institute of Genetics Dr.Vijaya Laxmi and Dr. Shilpa reddy and other research scholars guided the students for one week program

Organized by Department of Chemistry (Under Graduate & Post Graduate)
Department of Biotechnology
Government Degree College for Women (A), Begumpet,Hyd

The department of Chemistry and Biotechnology of Government Degree College for Women (A), Begumpet, Hyd organized a one day State level Faculty Development Programme on Molecular Docking studies in Drug Discovery on 10-03-2023. Total 75 faculty members from various colleges of Telangana have been registered and participated in the programme.

About the FDP

This FDP is a capacity building for science lecturers in computational applications of Chemistry & Biochemistry using Molecular modeling to obtain a new approach in drug design processes. Drawing and visualizing three dimensional structure of molecules and calculating their Physico-Chemical & Biological properties are the most valuable information to the pre-experimental work. Present FDP will provide a basic platform to the faculty and postgraduate students to attain an immense knowledge in the field of Drug discovery using molecular docking approaches, which can be disseminated to the students by the trained lecturers.

Objectives of FDP

- ✓ Introduction to Computer aided drug discovery.
- ✓ Introduction to Molecular Docking.
- ✓ Introduction to Biological databases (PUBMED, RCSB)
- ✓ Working with MGL Tools
- ✓ Molecular docking with Autodock
- ✓ Visualizations & Docking Analysis (PYMOL).
- ✓ Hands on session on Molecular Docking.

- ✓ Demonstration of UV-VIS Spectrophotometer

Technical Sessions:

ICT Learning Tools: The session focused on elaborating the significance of “ICT Learning Tools” in improving the quality of teaching-learning process and ICT tools can either be used in offline or online mode, in order to create an interesting classroom. Some of the examples of ICT Tools are online teaching platforms such as Zoom and Google Meet, where Teachers have a facility to interact with students who are in far off places. These platforms have transformed the entire educational system during the pandemic. Educational channels on You Tube are another useful resource for the learners, which facilitates teaching and learning across the globe. Digital library and Kindle App are other online resources, which provide the learners with access to unlimited resources for acquisition of knowledge. The presentation also covered a list of online sites and library resources which can be beneficial for attainment of knowledge, research or for upskilling oneself. Some of them are Shodhganga, Inflibnet, National Digital Library (NDL), Archive.org, Library Genesis, Harvard Library, Oxford Library, University of Michigan Library, Harvard Digital Collections etc.

The sessions also discussed about certain tools which enhance English language learning skills and the details are as follows-

- i speaker - helps in improving English pronunciation
- i writer- helps to plan write and review one’s own writing in English
- Cambridge advanced dictionary with exercises
- Rhino speaker beneficial for recording of passages. It also functions as online community service where one can record and upload.
- Audacity- an audio editing app which helps in changing the pace of the recording.
- Visual thesaurus- an online thesaurus with 145000 words, which helps in vocabulary building
- Visuwords- is a dictionary combined with thesaurus which visualizes group of words related to each term.
- Hemmingway Editor- This app highlights lengthy and complex sentences and common errors in yellow colour which can be shortened or split.
- Grammarly- online tool used to avoid grammatical errors.
- Podcasts and vodcasts- Podcast is an audio program made available in digital format for download over the Internet and vodcast is a video program.
- Blog writing-is an informational website published on the World Wide Web consisting of discrete, often informal diary-style text entries (posts)
- Edublogs – is a blog created for educational purposes.

Employability skills: The session focused on enunciating the significance of Employability skills and explained how they play a crucial role in enabling the students for a better performance in the process of selection for employment. Every student who aims for employment must improve certain qualities like honesty, sincerity, integrity, commitment, dedication towards the work assigned, loyalty for the organization, reliability and motivation for better performance. Apart from the subject proficiency and technical knowledge, these are the qualities which an employer looks for; hence it is important for the students to enhance these skills through observation and practice.

Employability skills are also called as workplace skills or enterprise skills, which enables a person to communicate well with the employer and helps in acquiring a job and also helps in exhibiting the patience and resilience in times of difficulty. One can improve these skills by community or group activities, and also by volunteering or by doing some unpaid work. The session highlighted some important aspects of acquiring and improving the employability skills.

Soft Skills: Apart from the hard skills such as subject proficiency and technical knowledge, there are certain other skills required in a work place, which enable a person for better performance in personal and professional life, called as Soft Skills. The umbrella term Soft Skills includes many aspects such as Interpersonal skills, Leadership skills, Oral and written Communication skills, Time Management, Stress Management, Adaptability, emotional intelligence for team work and collaboration, Critical thinking and Problem solving skills, positive attitude are some of the soft skills which helps in smooth conduct of activities in a professional environment. They enable a person to interact freely and effectively in an ever changing world.

Hard skills can be learnt by reading a book or by learning process of an individual, but improvement in soft skills involves interaction with other people and society, which makes the process more difficult and unpredictable. However, the current education system focuses more on this aspect, because improvement of these soft skills or social skills automatically results in better productivity, in any field. The presentation elaborated on the importance of each of these skills and how to improve them for the betterment of any individual or an organization.

Creativity in Teaching and Learning: Creativity in Teaching is mandatory for any teacher, because learning happens only in a positive environment where the learner is enthusiastic and active; hence in order to engage the learners in a productive way, teachers adopt many techniques in the classroom. The session elaborated on various anecdotes, and explained how creativity and innovation led to many scientific discoveries and inventions.

The presentation dealt with some of the aspects of creativity such as Self transformation, Spontaneity, Thinking out of the box etc. The importance of each was explained with examples. An interesting illustration on changing inner self was of Jean Nidetich and her approach on losing weight by thinking differently about herself. The ability of having spontaneity was well described with an example of Arnold Fornachou, an ice cream vendor whose quick thinking led to the birth of an ice cream cone. The third, focused on the coming together of intuition and logical thinking i.e., new ideas which was explained by taking the example of Leonardo da Vinci, the creator of Mona Lisa's smile and how his brilliant idea led to the invention of contact lens. The presentation also discussed some of the factors that block creativity such as fear, anger and guilt, stress, lack of imagination etc. and it concluded with a discussion on creating self-awareness using the Johari Window.

ICT Tools for Teachers-Theory & Practical: Session I and II on both the days were related to classroom pedagogy and soft skills. Session III and IV on both the days were practical hands-on training sessions for the faculty members, which were conducted in the computer laboratory. During these sessions, the resource person taught the usage of certain digital apps such as Google Classroom, JAM Board, Padlet, Mentimeter, Canva etc.

Google classroom is a platform which enables the teacher to engage the students in a better learning environment and also helps in catering to the personalized needs of the learners. With the help of Google classroom, a teacher can teach, test, evaluate and assess the learning levels of the students through interactive assignments, online tests with individual feedback.

JAM Board is a digital device which helps the teacher to collaborate with students in real time through the mobile app. JAM Board allows the collaborators to browse the internet and drag images or web pages on to the board, which can be modified or resized while teaching. JAM Board also allows the teacher to present Google docs or Google sheets and slides in the session.

Padlet is a virtual board which can be used by the members as a discussion board.
