Brief Report on the Field Trip :

The students of B Sc(Mpcs) 1st year students have been taken to Kakatiya Thermal Power Plant, which is situated near to Bhupalapally. This trip is arranged to know the power generation process from the coal directly. This plant generates 1100MW power every day.

After entering into the plant they gave some precautions and supplied caps for all students. There the staff first explained about basic layout and working of a thermal power plant to the students .

Principle involved in Thermal Power Plant:

Fuels such as heavy oil, LNG (liquefied natural gas) and coal are burned inside a boiler to generate steam at high temperature and high pressure.

This steam is used to rotate the impeller of the steam turbine. This drives the power generators connected to the turbine that generate electricity.

Students observed the main important working units of the plant and understand the principles and technology involved. They observed the working of following parts of the thermal power plant :

- Boiler
- Super heaters
- Turbines
- Condenser
- Cooling tower
- Ash storage unit
- Coal storage unit

For B.Sc students electric power generator and electro magnetic induction and electromagnetic waves topics are covered in the syllabus of 3rd semester

Staff explaining the lay out of The Plant to students:

Students and faculty at the power plant:

The students observing working of boiler in the plant:

Conclusion :

- Through this trip they understand working of power generator,
- Students get an exposure to the working of industries and its impact on the surroundings.
- Students understand the need of saving electric power
