Best And Innovative Practices

Poor Student Aid Fund

“Helping hands is better than praying lips”- Mother Teresa.

The Economics department has taken an initiative to help the poor students. Most of the students come from rural areas and poor economic backgrounds. Many of the parents are casual labour or marginal farmers and paying the college fee of their children is a difficult task. Many of the students drop out of the college without completing their education due to financial problems. The Department of Economics maintains a Poor Aid Fund to support economically backward students.

Objectives of the poor Student aid fund:

- Provide financial assistance to needy students to help them pursue their studies in college.
- To render financial assistance to the poor students for the payment of tuition fees, examination fees, purchase of books, etc.
- Help the meritorious students to continue their higher education.
- To encourage all round development of students.
- Improve the students' confidence level and to achieve financial self-sufficiency in the future.

Every year the Department of Economics supports needy and deserving students through the Poor Student Aid Fund. It is useful for students to continue their education and to develop their overall personality to make them responsible human beings.
