

TITLE OF THE BEST PRACTICE:

Enrollment of New Voters

Objective of Practice:

We have undertaken this process to increase voter registration percentage. So that everyone over the age of 18 can be registered as a voter.

These best practical will go along way in increasing the participation of young voters in the democratic process with the aim of increasing young voters.

The concept:

All of the students of J.V.R college have chosen the best practices in the context of giving them a better understanding and opportunity for everyone over the age of 18 also to become a voter.

This best practice has the potential to turn many students into new voters. Every year the Election Commission of India celebrates National Voters Day to increase the percentage of voters. As part of the National Voters Day celebration a number of programs were launched to educate students on the importance of voting including best practice.

The Practice Describe:

This practice has the potential to turn many students into new voters in India which is the largest democracy it will increase the participation of the people in the formation of government and as well as the participation of young voters.

Many programs have been conducted to create awareness among the youth. As part of this every year we held a National Voters Day which is on January 25 to highlight the importance of voting.

Evidence of Success:

This best practice will result in a large number of students becoming new voters and a significant increase in the voting percentage in India which has the largest democracy the participation of people in government formation will increase as well as the participation of young voters.
