

Best Practice---2021-2022

Assisting the needy women minority students for applying scholarships

1. Objectives of the Practice:

Education is the single most significant component that can significantly improve a student's quality of life and broaden her perspective on various facets of life. Nonetheless, there are a select few unfortunate people who want to succeed and further their education but are not financially unable to do so. With the aid of this method, we wish to educate the less fortunate and enlighten their future with knowledge and optimism. With the help of Internet Sources we were able to get a hold of a few novel methods that we had been connotation to guide students for their financial assistance.

2. The Context: We encounter students like these both during the admissions process and elsewhere who want to pursue higher education but are constrained by their dire financial circumstances. The difficulty is in organising financial aid through numerous Charities, people, and organisations so that the greatest number of students can benefit. However because of a shortage of funds, many people's educational aspirations may have to be abandoned. The programme has been developed and is being used in a way that will allow the greatest number of pupils to benefit from it. Book banks are set up to further help the students who are not financially sound.
3. The Practice: Several philanthropic and humanitarian organisations and individuals have contacted the college with offers to pay the tuition or award scholarships to deserving students.

The practise is distinctive in and of itself because it defies all rules and regulations set forth by the government. But the institution is making a last-minute attempt to illuminate even the most remote areas with knowledge. The institution has been aiding students financially with the aid of numerous organisations, people, and government programmes.

In order to assist the less fortunate students, book banks have been formed in several departments of the college. The poor students who participate in this programme receive books from the book bank for the duration of the semester. Following tests, they return the books and receive new semester's worth of books. These book banks are stocked with excess complimentary copies that teachers receive as well as books that former students contribute.

The challenge in providing students with financial aid is finding enough money to completely support every student. Book bank faces a few issues like some of the passout students may not return books or the books may be insufficient for the number of students actually needing the books.

Santoor Scholarship

The Santoor Scholarship program is an initiative of Wipro Consumer Care and Wipro Cares. The program intends to financially support girls from disadvantaged backgrounds, who wish to pursue higher education after grade 12. Launched in 2016-17, the program offers support to 1800 students every year, across the states of Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Karnataka and Chhattisgarh. It is a recurring annual program and the selected students are supported for the duration of their higher education. The support covers tuition fees and incidental expenses. Over the last six years, close to 4200 students have received support through the Santoor Scholarship Program. Besides students inclined towards professional courses, those showing a keen interest in pursuing their higher education in the fields of humanities, liberal arts and sciences are strongly encouraged to apply. Preference is given to students from backward districts.

5. Evidence of Success:

The efforts made by institution over the years have borne fruit and many students have successfully graduated from this college due to the aid provided to them. One such example is given below. Haleema Sadiya bearing a Roll No. 1083-21-441-003 of BSc(MPC) got Santoor Scholarship of Rs 24,000/- per year till she completes her graduation. The scholarship is valid from 1st July 2021 to June 2024.

6. Problems encountered:

The challenge in providing students with financial aid in finding enough money to completely support every student. Book bank faces a few issues like some of the passout students may not return books or the books may be insufficient for the number of students actually needing the books.
