There is no aspect of human life in which children's literature is not involved. Literature is a mirror of society. Literature has a strong connection with society and both influence each other. Urdu is not just a language but the name of a civilization. Political, social, religious, educational and moral issues are described in it. Literature transmits these topics from one generation to another. Children are the capital of any country or nation. The main purpose of children's literature is not only to provide entertainment to children but also expose their hidden talents and create answers for children to build their

These plays an important role in the formation. children's literature is very important in both school setting and at home. Teachers and parents should be able to distinguish between standard and mediocre literature. So that students can have access to the best books and magazine to encourage the important values of literature and focus on the developmental domain. Access to all kinds of literature is essential for the success of children in modern times. It is the responsibility of teachers and parents inculcate a love of children's literature. Now we need to make children aware of the seeds and misuse of this technology so that they can use this technology to train on their mental, physical, emotional level because success has become a part of our lives. Children's literature should be able to meet their needs as they get older. The child's early education should be such that it is helpful in understanding civil life and social life otherwise only the recognition of words and manipulation of letters and meaningless public information will be left in the textbook lesson. The main purpose of this project is not only to provide entertainment to the children but also to highlight the hidden talents of the children. We have to prepare for the bright future of the country because among these children of Akbar, Arjuna, Abhimanyu will become Akbar, Arjuna, Abhimanyu only then will the name of our nation country shine in the whole world. For getting good time constantly almost support and help from the principal and the staff without which we would not be given the prize. They really express their feelings wholeheartedly, appreciated the entire team of Jyotsna which is really forcing me to get the laurels forth time also. The students are enthusiastically and voluntarily coming forward for participation in the Jyotsna projects. Specially the Uday medium students. Students participation is so honest and sincere as they rarely follow the instructions given by me as well as the institution for bringing bouquets and awards to our esteemed institution and the honorable staff.
