2 Read the following Passage and answer the following questions: (5 x 2 = 10)

The conception of the conscious individual that is built up by modern biological science and introspective psychology differs in many respects from the older idea of a human self. The older ideas was more compact and definite and altogether unified. John Everyman was just plain John Everyman and evermore should be so. In those analytical days people no more questioned that than they questioned Old England was old England or that people were either good or bad. But the scalpel, the microscope, the study of the less familiar aspects of life and the searchlight of an intensive criticism have all combined to undermine our confidence in the simplicity and absolute integrity of individuals. We begin to apprehend the transitory, provisional and fluctuating factors and aspects of a human self.

In those unsuspicious days, John Everyman could really think of himself as boxed-up in himself, as absolutely separate from all the rest of things, able to keep his thoughts and motives to himself, free to do just what he like with himself. He could make his own plans for his ends. He could lie and cheat other people, but it did not occur to him that he could ever lie to himself.

a) What is the passage about?

b) How does the modern conception of human self differ from the older one according to the passage?

b) According to the passage, how were the people during olden days

c) Explain the phrase "boxed-up in himself".

d) What is mentioned about John Everyman in the passage?

3 Read the poem and answer the questions.   (5 x 2 =10)

Our God! Our help in ages past,
    Our hope for years to come,
Our shelter from the stormy blast,
    And out eternal home!

Before the hills in order stood,
    Or earth received here frame,
From everlasting thou are God,
    To endless years the same.

A thousand ages in thy sight
    Are like an evening gone;
Short as the watch that ends the night
    Before the rising sun.

O God! Our help in ages past,
    Our hope for years to come,
Be thou our guide while troubles last,
    And our eternal home!

a) How does the poet describe God?
b) From what time did God exit?
c) Till what time will He continue?
d) What are ages in God's sight?
e) How does the poet emphasize the brevity of time in the eyes of God?
