- Start challenging yourself and try to discover yourself.
- Stay true to your values.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF "SKILLS TO SUCCESS"

At the outbreak of the pandemic COVID 19 virus, The Ohio State University was the first university in Ohio to shut down in-person learning and move to online learning for the rest of the school year. Soon, one-by-one, big and small colleges and universities in Ohio followed in their footsteps.

Upon closing their doors to in-person learning, soon thereafter, students were asked to move out of their dorm rooms and move home the rest of the semester. Many collegiate-age students either where they were attending school or commuting, soon began to be laid off from their jobs thereafter.

Suddenly, students went from living with their friends and having great freedom, to back at home and under parent's rules and restrictions. For a certain percentage of the collegiate age population, there was no home to go back home to.

Child and Adolescent Behavioral Health's (C&A) Peer Counselor Bianca Hooten provides insight to help collegiate-age kids through this tough transitional period, which is different than being home during traditional breaks and under the governor's stay-at-home restrictions.

"Youth that have come home from college, this does not have to be a bad thing," wrote Hooten. "I think it is first a mindset, and shifting the mindset that this pandemic is only temporary can be helpful to start. Time at home can be a reset from college stress, talk with hometown friends and mentors to recharge.

Most importantly is family. Family time is important especially because youth have been away from their loved ones and close relatives.”

For students who are transient and do not have a home to come home to, Hooten offered this advice. “When students are in that transition of developing independent living skills getting connected to community resources is huge!,” wrote Hooten. “Know the community and networking is big. Peer mentors help will this all the time. ... but as for one who has had these experiences and lost them due to this time where they are living now, this could be a time to rewrite goals and aspirations for future trials and tribulations. This could also be a time to look at finances closer and money management. Youth don’t always take advantage of saving money so utilizing certain skills helps in times like now.”

Individuals at all age levels, but particularly this age group, should practice mindfulness and pro-social activities.

“I often give feedback on engaging healthy coping and positive interventions besides what we are used to doing – such as going to shopping centers, beaches and social places,” wrote Hooten. “Walking is awesome and healthy, but working on projects that you want to finish but never have the time because you’re too busy is a good idea. Hanging with close friends – keeping social/personal distancing in mind – is a form of coping I use myself.”

LIFE SKILL LESSONS TO LEARN

Two important life skill lessons for collegiate-age students to learn are money management and time management.

Hooten said money management is important during this time frame. Like no time before, kids need to spend money more wisely and more efficiently. Again, many collegiate students have found themselves temporarily laid off for the first time, so being prudent is essential.

As for time management, Hooten offered this advice. “Our higher officials have placed community orders on all of us; use your time throughout the day effectively,” wrote Hooten. “Consider what your agenda is for each day. Wake up with mindfulness - should I go to the grocery store this day? How can I use my time productively? What are some things that I haven’t put a lot of energy into that matters?”

RESILIENCY SKILLS THESE YOUNG ADULTS WILL LEARN

By definition, resiliency is defined as the ability of a substance or object to spring back into shape; elasticity.

Hooten said resiliency is a powerful word! What I constantly tell the youth is that they have strengths and talents already. Sometimes it takes times like these to notice and have mentors pull these gifts out of them. I am a busy body myself, and lately I've been in my "creative bag" to say the least. There is something I'll share that a lot of people don't know about me – I have been partaking in cooking to strengthen this gift I have. Lately, because all of our social lives here have been slowed down, I have been able to sit down and see what I could develop that I actually like to do."

Hooten continued by saying she comes from a family of women who love to cook. Since Hooten, like everyone else, is unable to go to her social spots and she is mostly in her house, she is honing her cooking skills.

Hooten summed up what all college kids should be doing right now but rarely take the time to do. Her advice is to take time to know yourself. What are you good at? What are you afraid of? A lot of having strengths and weaknesses has to do with your identity. When you sit down, take time to meditate. Ask yourself some questions. Encourage yourself to face trials and tribulations which also help with anxiety! What I've learned also that helps with anxiety is having a plan! Plan your day. It will help with that feeling of anxiousness because now you have step-by-step things to accomplish through the day. No one likes feeling overwhelmed!

All four C&A locations are open during the COVID-19 pandemic. C&A is seeing new and current clients in-person or through telehealth. For more information on these services, call 330-433-6075.

- Learn to accept things according to the situation.
- Start challenging yourself and try to discover yourself.
- Stay true to your values.

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF LIFE SKILL:COVID-19 AWAKEN YOUR INNER STRENGTH

At the outbreak of the pandemic COVID 19 virus, The Ohio State University was the first university in Ohio to shut down in-person learning and move to online learning for the rest of the school year. Soon, one-by-one, big and small colleges and universities in Ohio followed in their footsteps.

Upon closing their doors to in-person learning, soon thereafter, students were asked to move out of their dorm rooms and move home the rest of the semester. Many collegiate-age students either where they were attending school or commuting, soon began to be laid off from their jobs thereafter.

Suddenly, students went from living with their friends and having great freedom, to back at home and under parent's rules and restrictions. For a certain percentage of the collegiate age population, there was no home to go back home to.

Child and Adolescent Behavioral Health's (C&A) Peer Counselor Bianca Hooten provides insight to help collegiate-age kids through this tough transitional period, which is different than being home during traditional breaks and under the governor's stay-at-home restrictions.

"Youth that have come home from college, this does not have to be a bad thing," wrote Hooten. "I think it is first a mindset, and shifting the mindset that this pandemic is only temporary can be helpful to start. Time at home can be a reset from college stress, talk with hometown friends and mentors to recharge. Most importantly is family. Family time is important especially because youth have been away from their loved ones and close relatives.”

For students who are transient and do not have a home to come home to, Hooten offered this advice. “When students are in that transition of developing independent living skills getting connected to community resources is huge!,” wrote Hooten. “Know the community and networking is big. Peer mentors help will this all the time. ... but as for one who has had these experiences and lost them due to this time where they are living now, this could be a time to rewrite goals and aspirations for future trials and tribulations. This could also be a time to look at finances closer and money management. Youth don’t always take advantage of saving money so utilizing certain skills helps in times like now.”

Individuals at all age levels, but particularly this age group, should practice mindfulness and pro-social activities.

“I often give feedback on engaging healthy coping and positive interventions besides what we are used to doing – such as going to shopping centers, beaches and social places,” wrote Hooten. “Walking is awesome and healthy, but working on projects that you want to finish but never have the time because you’re too busy is a good idea. Hanging with close friends – keeping social/personal distancing in mind – is a form of coping I use myself.”

LIFE SKILL LESSONS TO LEARN

Two important life skill lessons for collegiate-age students to learn are money management and time management.

Hooten said money management is important during this time frame. Like no time before, kids need to spend money more wisely and more efficiently. Again, many collegiate students have found themselves temporarily laid off for the first time, so being prudent is essential.

As for time management, Hooten offered this advice. “Our higher officials have placed community orders on all of us; use your time throughout the day effectively,” wrote Hooten. “Consider what your agenda is for each day. Wake up with mindfulness - should I go to the grocery store this day? How can I use my time productively? What are some things that I haven’t put a lot of energy into that matters?”

RESILIENCY SKILLS THESE YOUNG ADULTS WILL LEARN

Hooten said resiliency is a powerful word! What I constantly tell the youth is that they have strengths and talents already. Sometimes it takes times like these to notice and have mentors pull these gifts out of them. I am a busy body myself, and lately I've been in my "creative bag" to say the least. There is something I'll share that a lot of people don't know about me – I have been partaking in cooking to strengthen this gift I have. Lately, because all of our social lives here have been slowed down, I have been able to sit down and see what I could develop that I actually like to do."

Hooten continued by saying she comes from a family of women who love to cook. Since Hooten, like everyone else, is unable to go to her social spots and she is mostly in her house, she is honing her cooking skills.

Hooten summed up what all college kids should be doing right now but rarely take the time to do. Her advice is to take time to know yourself. What are you good at? What are you afraid of? A lot of having strengths and weaknesses has to do with your identity. When you sit down, take time to meditate. Ask yourself some questions. Encourage yourself to face trials and tribulations which also help with anxiety! What I've learned also that helps with anxiety is having a plan! Plan your day. It will help with that feeling of anxiousness because now you have step-by-step things to accomplish through the day. No one likes feeling overwhelmed!

All four C&A locations are open during the COVID-19 pandemic. C&A is seeing new and current clients in-person or through telehealth. For more information on these services, call 330-433-6075.

* C&A's Bianca Hooten works with adolescent and young adults as a peer counselor helping kids transition from youth to adulthood learning independent life skills.

Objectives:

The objectives of this course are:

- Yoga improves strength, balance and flexibility. ...
- Yoga helps with back pain relief. ...
- Yoga can ease arthritis symptoms. ...
- Yoga benefits heart health. ...
- Yoga relaxes you, to help you sleep better. ...
- Yoga can mean more energy and brighter moods. ...
- Yoga helps you manage stress...

AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF YOGA FOR HEALTHY LIFE

Yoga education can supplement school and university education. It can prepare the students physically and mentally for the integration of their physical, mental and spiritual faculties so that the students can become healthier, saner and more integrated members of the society and of the nation. Yoga education helps in self discipline and self-control, leading to immense amount of awareness, concentration and higher level of consciousness. Briefly the aims and objectives of Yoga education are:

- 1) To enable the student to have good health.
- 2) To practice mental hygiene.
- 3) To possess emotional stability.
- 4) To integrate moral values.
- 5) To attain higher level of consciousness.

All these objectives could be dealt with in an integrated manner.

Yoga education could help to equip oneself with basic knowledge about one's personality, to learn to handle oneself well in all life situations, to learn techniques of gaining good health, to develop a discriminative mind capable of knowing the real from the unreal and to face the dualities of life with equanimity. Yoga education can start from standard all Age group people.

Yoga education can enhance all the activities of the students, be it academic or sport or social. Yoga techniques provide improved attention in studies, better stamina and co-ordination for sports and a heightened awareness and balanced attitude for social activity. Yoga education can be integrated in school education during the time set aside for P.T. but in a calm and quiet place creating the proper atmosphere for its proper study and practice.

Women have unique health issues. And some of the health issues that affect both men and women can affect women differently. Women and men also have many of the same health problems. But these problems can affect women differently. Some health issues affect women differently and more commonly. Furthermore, many women's health conditions go undiagnosed and most drug trials do not include female test subjects. Even so, women bear exclusive health concerns, such as breast cancer, cervical cancer, menopause, and pregnancy. Teenagers face different types of problems like PCOD, PCOS, menstrual pain, Stress etc.

The art of practicing yoga helps in controlling an individual's mind, body and soul. COMMISSIONER OF COLLEGIATE EDUCATION
GOVERNMENT OF TELANGANA PRESENT: SRI.NAVIN MITTAL, IAS.

CIRCULAR

Sub: Collegiate Education - Government Degree Colleges - One month In-house Training Program on Basic Computer Skills for Teaching and Non-Teaching Staff Members -Reg.

During the Virtual Meeting held on 15.03.2021 with Principals of GDCs in Telangana State, some of the Principals have informed the Commissioner of Collegiate Education that some of the Teaching and Non-teaching faculty members of GDCs do not have the basic Computer knowledge which ultimately leading to hindrance to the effective functioning of GDCs.

In order to efficiently maintain the Academic and Office Administration in all GDCs, it has been decided to conduct One Month (30 days) training program in Basic Computer Skills for the Teaching and Non-teaching faculty members of GDCs, who are not well-versed or not equipped with Basic Computer Skills.

The training would cover the following components of Computer Skills:

1. MS Word
2. MS Excel
3. MS Power Point
4. Internet Browsing and email usage
5. Usage of e-Office

Further, the Principals are instructed to identify the Teaching and Non-teaching staff for undergoing Training and ensure that they should be given proper training by the Computer Science/Applications Faculty member (Regular/Contract/Guest) of the respective colleges.

Prior to the identification of faculty members for imparting Computer training, the Principals should get the undertaking signed from the faculty members that they are aware of Basic Computer Skills and they would be able to work on the above said applications as a part of their regular Office/Academic duties.

In this connection, Principals are instructed to identify the Trainer and participants and are directed to commence the training program from today and complete the training program by 15 April, 2021 and ensure that all the Staff members are Computer Literates and are able to work on the above said applications for effective and smooth functioning of the colleges. The training should be given before or after the regular college timings covering two hours per day and the Principals should ensure that those who are undergoing training should mark the Biometric attendance after 8 hours instead of the regular 6 hours of College timings.

In view of the above the Principals are informed to monitor the training program and issue certificates to the participants after successful completion of the training program and send compliance of the same to the O/o CCE by 15 April, 2021.
