TOPIC COVERED ON INTERNATIONAL OZONE DAY

CFC, → chloro fluoro carbons .

HFC → Hydro fluoro carbons .

⇒ All the polluting agents are contributing to decrease the thickness of ozone layer .

⇒ In, 2019, NASA has reported that the first discovery of small hole in ozone layer in 1982 . Today the top most country is china which is playing a vital role in production of CFC, HFC, VFC, BFC, polluting agents .

Result of ozone depletion

If ozone layer thickness decreases it will lead to direct fall of UV rays on the earth . This will result to more damage to life on earth such as skin cancers, eye blindness, etc . It also affects the life of plants by decreasing their yield from photosynthesis .

The Himalayan mountains will dissolve by direct falling of UV rays it led to increase of ocean water level then the entire land on earth will be covered by water .

IMPORTANCE OF OZONE LAYER.

There are lot of words to describe a beautiful ozone layer. It is also a wonder made by Nature. Ozone layer playing a prominent role in protecting the survival of life on Earth planet.

Necessity of ozone layer.

The ozone layer which is present in the layer of stratosphere. It protects the life on earth from UV rays (ultra violet ray)

How ozone going to depletion.

Due to the dominant role of humans on earth, their technology and industrialisation for their need is the main cause to the depletion of ozone layer. Such as industrialisation and vehicular pollution increase the rate of carbon monoxide, Nitrogen oxide level in air and contributing to pollution of air.

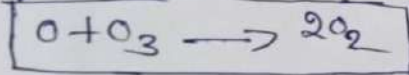

The domestic usage like refrigerators, propellants, etc. are also major reason for this. All these air pollutants are.

How to prevent depletion of ozone layer

plantation of plant saplings if we limit the polluting agents will increase the thickness of ozone

The ozone layer is made up of free radicals of oxygen molecules. So planting free sapling will release oxygen into the atmosphere and increases the rearrangement of ozone layer.

The first ~~has~~ research on depletion of ozone layer was held in 1970.
