Institutional Best Practices

Best Practice-1:

a) Title of the Practice

Organizing free Medical Health check-ups and Blood donation camps.

b) Objectives of the Practice

The main aim of the practice is to create awareness on the prevention of contagious diseases and health promotion to the students who have no access to basic healthcare services.

c) The Context

Majority of Govt. College students are anaemic, malnourished and from marginalized sections of the society. Due to health issues, they are not regular to college and leads to increase in the rate of dropouts.

d) The Practice

The TWO NSS units and the Bhagya committee of the college regularly conduct free medical camps for the students. The students are provided medical check-up by specialists from Ophthalmology, Gynaecology, ENT, skin, Dental and General Medicine. Students are also provided awareness on common ailments, allergies, viral and contagious diseases, malnutrition, anaemia, deficiency of vitamins etc. Experienced and specialist doctors examine and give medical advice, prescribe, and distribute medicines to the students. The students are provided with health card, in which blood group, allergies evidence of success etc are noted. Free health check-ups are also organised in the adopted villages during NSS special camp.

e) Evidence of Success

“Health is wealth” is the motto of free medical health Check-ups. The college students are given Health Cards. Students’ health information details on the cards help them to monitor their improvements. It gives them an opportunity to donate blood to the needy. Free iron tablets are distributed by the camp doctors as many students are anaemic.

f) Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Arranging a mega Health Check-up is a tough task as the equipment required needs to be transported and setup in the premises. Students sometimes don’t disclose their problem. Communicating with all specialists and arranging the check-up on a particular date and time is a challenging task. Approaching the same doctor after health check-up is a problem and costly affair to the students. Regular physician and health centre for the college is recommended.

Best Practice-2

Mid-Day Meals

1. The Objectives

- To provide simple meals to students during lunch time
- Nutritious meal to the students belonging to BPL families
- To improve students' attendance in post-lunch session classes

2. The Context:

Majority of the students at the college belong to surrounding rural areas. They commute daily to the college. The college is situated far away from the town. Not many hotel or other facilities are available for having lunch or snacks. Moreover, students can't afford hotel food. Many students start early from their villages and as a consequence they are unable to bring lunch boxes to the college. Some students leave the college during lunch time and do not turn up again for post-lunch session classes. This has affected the overall functioning of the college. When the programme was initiated in the year 2017-18, it aimed at the provision of Midday Meals to students during the months of February and March to help them with their preparation for the Annual Examinations. The institution has been providing mid-day meals to the students during the months of February and March of each academic year.

3. The Practice

Midday Meals is provided to students throughout the year. The Practice was implemented first with the contributions from the principal and staff of the college. Later, Alumni Association Members and philanthropists have donated for the programme.

4. Evidence of Success

- With the implementation of this Practice, the result of the college has improved considerably.
- Students have received the programme well. They felt very happy. Their feedback is positive, and they wanted the programme to continue for the entire year.
- Students found it very useful, and they were able to stay in the college as per the timetable.
- Student attendance in the post-lunch session classes has improved.
- Alumni Association and parents have also appreciated the programme and extended their support
- It has developed community feeling among the students as they sit and eat together during the midday meals.

5. The Obstacles/Problems encountered and Required Resources

Generating finding to run this program is the main obstacle. A committee was formed with faculty for successful implementation of the programme. The Committee was entrusted with the duties of mobilizing funds from Alumni and philanthropists. Student community is also given representation in the committee.

- Accumulation of funds/donations is a hectic task.
- Insufficient infrastructure and working staff for cooking and serving.

Criterion-VII : Institutional values and Best practices.

7.2 Best Practices.

Qualitative Metric No : 7.2.1: Additional Documentation.

MID Day Meals (IEPP - Intensive Examination Preparatory Programme)

Importance of IEPP

The main objective of this IEPP is to prepare students intensively for annual examinations. Under this programme, students are provided with important questions and answers keeping the annual examination in view. To fulfil this object, students have to follow full timings of the college. Since the students are from rural areas and economically poor, they do not bring lunch boxes with them. This causes them to leave college in the afternoon. These effects on syllabus completion and the preparation for annual examination. Keeping this in mind, the Mid-day meals programme is launched to along with IEPP. The Mid-day meals programme has a great impact on the student's attendance in the afternoon session and their preparation for annual examinations. The implementation of Mid-day meals programme in the previous year's helped to raise the results of our students. Keeping this in view, our college wanted to implement Mid-day meals programme this year also to help IEPP.
