A brief report on National Webinar

Title of the webinar: Employability and research opportunities in chemistry for women.

Resource person: Dr. V. Lakshmi
Assistant Professor , NIT , Karnataka

Date: 13.07.2020.

Number of students

Participated: 141

Throughout history and over the last years women have strongly intended to play central roles in addressing major aspects of the world's most urgent problems such as global poverty, health and climate change. The female scientific leaders from different disciplines have combined efforts to build a better country with regards to science, education, technology and innovation.

Most of the female undergraduate students especially from rural villages don't have an idea about the research opportunities in chemistry. To enlighten the ways that will help female undergraduates to join in research this National webinar titled "Employability and research opportunities in chemistry for women" was organised by the department of chemistry. The resource person explained all the opportunities in the field of chemical sciences.
