Review of literature:

Introduction: Language is a means of communication which a child contemplates the past, grasps the present and approaches the future. English language plays an important role in the world. Though English is a foreign language it occupies a unique position in our country. It has been paying an important role in our educational system as well as our national life

Mother tongue: In case of mother tongue, there is no specific effort to learn language. Children acquire their mother tongue through interaction with their parents and environment that surrounds them

Grammar: Grammar is a set of rules that govern words, clauses, and phrases in any language. Grammar is usually considered as a way to put the words together in a meaningful manner.

Role of Grammar and Mother tongue in the acquisition of English language:

- English language is a global language as many countries around the world use it for communicating with each other. It is the language of success and opportunities. It is employed in the fields of science, education, politics, business, transportation, law and so forth. Learning English is important as it provides for the learners, the access to the technological, scientific and academic resources.
- Most of the classrooms in India use mother tongue in teaching grammar, in this every word, phrase and grammatical rule will be translated into mother tongue. It is presumed that if a student gets acquainted with the meaning of new words, phrases he can have a command over the English language.
- The structures of a foreign language are best learnt when compared and contrasted with those of the mother tongue.
- Student can learn English grammar rules with the help of mother tongue. It is also easily taught when it is by comparing its grammar of the mother tongue.
