Nutritional Deficiency Diseases :-

Good nutrition is an important part of leading a healthy lifestyle. Combined with physical activity, your diet can help you to reach and maintain a healthy weight, reduce your risk of chronic diseases (like heart disease and cancer), and promote your overall health.

Food and Nutrition

Food and nutrition are the way that we get fuel, providing energy for our bodies. We need to replace nutrients in our bodies with a new supply every day. Water is an important component of nutrition. Fats, proteins, and carbohydrates are all required.... A healthy diet includes a lot of natural foods.

Nutritional disease

1. Marasmus :-

Marasmus is a form of severe malnutrition characterised by energy deficiency. It can be distinguished from kwashiorkor in that kwashiorkor is protein deficiency with adequate energy intake whereas marasmus is inadequate energy intake in all forms, including protein.

Prevention

The best way to prevent marasmus is to have an adequate intake of calories and protein, preferably from a healthful, well-balanced diet.

Foods

Foods rich in protein, such as skimmed milk, fish, eggs, and nuts are ideal for energy and growth, though any protein and calorie-rich food can be used to prevent marasmus.

depending on what is available.

2. Kwashiorkor :-

Kwashiorkor is a condition resulting from inadequate protein intake. Early symptoms include fatigue, irritability, and lethargy. As protein deprivation continues, one sees growth failure, loss of muscle mass, generalised swelling (edema), and decreased immunity. A large, protuberant belly is common.

Food for kwashiorkor :-

Bananas, fruit juice, meat, eggs, vegetables, and cereals are gradually added to give a diet throughout most of the recovery period containing 5 to 7g of protein and 130 to 150 cal. penicillin is given routinely for the first eight to ten days and supplementary iron therapy is started after one week has elapsed.

Prevention :-

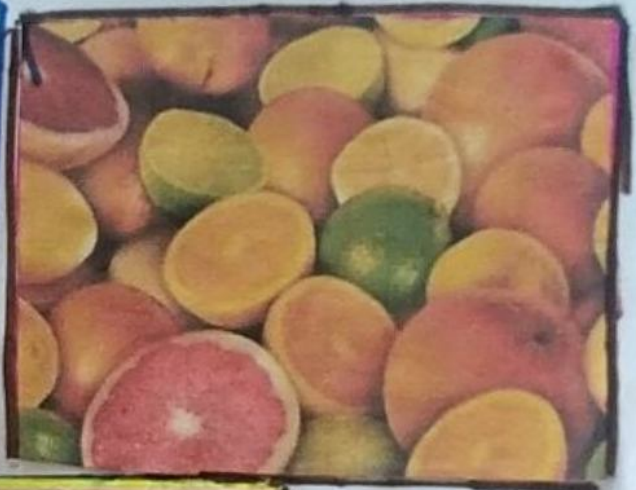

Kwashiorkor can be prevented by making sure you eat enough calories and protein-rich foods. Dietary guidelines from the Institute of Medicine recommend that 10 to 35 percent of adults' daily calories come from protein.
