* Food Security *

Food Security :-

India attained self-sufficiency in food by late 1980s though food security still evades the country food security means making food available at affordable prices at all times, to all without interruptions. Though India's GDP growth has been impressive and the agricultural production has also increased over the past few decades, hunger and starvation still persist among the poorer sections of the population.

State of Hunger & Malnutrition :- As per the latest State of Food Security and Nutrition in the world 2019 report of the FAO (UNO), the state of hunger and malnutrition in India is very worrisome.

- * 14.5 percent of population is undernourished (that is 19.44 crore)
- * 51.4 percent of women in reproductive age (15-49 years age group) are anaemic
- * 37.9 percent of women in reproduction age (15-49 years age group) are anaemic.
- * 20.8 percent of children under five suffer from wasting (meaning their weight is too low for their height).

Some India - Specific findings of the report are as given below:-

* Ranket below Pakistan (94), Bangladesh (88), Nepal (73) and Sri Lanka (66)

* 9.6 percent of children (6-23 month of age) are given a minimum acceptable diet.

* The highest child stunting rate (37.9 percent against global average of 20.8 percent).

* Under five ~~gr~~ mortality has improved

Therefore, along with provision of food subsidy in agricultural commodity prices is essential for making the poorer section food secure.

(i) Enhancing its food production:- If food (i.e. food grains) is to be supplied to all today India will face deficit of around 80 million tonnes of food grains.

(ii) Strengthening supply chain:- Managing the issue like storage transportation, proper retailing and integrating the segmented agri-markets into a national agri-market.

Due to high level of undernourishment and volatility in agricultural prices, India has one of the largest number of food schemes in the world to ensure food security.

(i) There is entitlement feeding programmes like the Integrated Child Development Scheme (ICDS) - covers all children under six, pregnant and lactating mothers.

(ii) Mid Day Meal Schemes (MDMS)

(iii) Annapurna (10 kgs of free food grain for destitute poor) and the .

Till the vulnerable population is not enabled with the market-linked purchasing capacity, these programme. to run these schemes with utmost focus of beneficiaries

Extension Lecture

Department of Zoology organized an extension lecture on 'Indian Biodiversity and its conservation'. This lecture was given by SK. Hussain, Project Scientist, Environmental Eco-Foundation, Pondicherry on 26/03/2019. The faculty of Zoology, Dr. Ch. Srinivasaiah, Dr. Ravichandrababu, G. Srinivasaiah, M. Venkateswaraiah and G. B. glory are participants in the programme. Most of the UG students from 1st, 2nd and 3rd year BXC and M.Sc 1st year students are involved in the programme. He advocated that Biodiversity is nothing but the Variety and variability of biological species. India is one of the mega biodiversity countries in the world. It has only 2.4% of geographical area but sustains nearly 8% of flora of the world. Anthropogenic activities like pollution and deforestation are mainly responsible for the decline of flora and fauna in India. He also stressed the protection of key stone species like Tiger in our ecosystem

* Telangana Economy *

Agriculture :-

- * As per Allan Savory, agriculture is not merely crop production as popular belief holds. It is the production of food and fiber from the land and water.
- * Sustainable growth in agriculture continues to be the core agenda for both the central and state government.
- * Agriculture sector is mainly rainfed and depends to a significant extent on the depleting ground water resources. About 55.49 percent of the state's population is dependent on farm activity.
- * Government of Telangana the share of agriculture sector in state gross domestic product (SGDP) in current prices is 18.6 percent (AE) and in constant prices it is 16 percent in 2019-20 (AE).

Industry :-

- * The state of Telangana is home to large manufacturing industries. The bulk drugs, pharmaceuticals, agro processing, cement and metals are present in Telangana.

*) The state is one among the major industrial states in the country and it is ranked 6th in terms of gross value added from industries

*) The share of industrial sector contribution to SGDP at constant prices is 28.3 percent in 2004-05.

Service Sector :- ~~As~~ the

*) ~~As~~ the state economy develops it transforms from being an agrarian economy.

*) At the later stage of economic development the service sector.

*) Growth in services of the state economy is largely due to IT and business services.

Poverty in Jharkhand :-

*) Poverty is more widespread than unemployment - even many employed are poor.

*) It is a socio-economic problem. viz minimum needs acceptable living standard.

*) It is important to note that poverty is a multi-faceted phenomenon and is affected by social factors.

Report:

Biomolecule, also called biological molecule, any of numerous substances that are produced by cells and living organisms. Biomolecules have a wide range of sizes and structures and perform a vast array of functions. The four major types of biomolecules are carbohydrates, lipids, nucleic acids, and proteins.

Among biomolecules, nucleic acids, namely DNA and RNA, have the unique function of storing an organism's genetic code—the sequence of nucleotides that determines the amino acid sequence of proteins, which are of critical importance to life on Earth. There are 20 different amino acids that can occur within a protein; the order in which they occur plays a fundamental role in determining protein structure and function. Proteins themselves are major structural elements of cells. They also serve as transporters, moving nutrients and other molecules in and out of cells, and as enzymes and catalysts for the vast majority of chemical reactions that take place in living organisms. Proteins also form antibodies and hormones, and they influence gene activity.

Likewise, carbohydrates, which are made up primarily of molecules containing atoms of carbon, hydrogen, and oxygen, are essential energy sources and structural components of all life, and they are among the most abundant biomolecules on Earth. They are built from four types of sugar units—monosaccharides, disaccharides, oligosaccharides, and polysaccharides. Lipids, another key biomolecule of living organisms, fulfill a variety of roles, including serving as a source of stored energy and acting as chemical messengers. They also form membranes, which separate cells from their environments and compartmentalize the cell interior, giving rise to organelles, such as the nucleus and the mitochondrion, in higher (more complex) organisms.

Students came to know about different types of biomolecules and their functions. They also actively participated in Q & A Session
