Abstract

In recent times increased attention is being paid to the education of women. The importance of women in matters of building the character of the citizens, economic reconstruction of the country and social reforms is being realised. Under the fast-changing conditions in the country, though different Commissions and Committees appointed at times, suggested for the solution of the problems of women's education and for its expansion, even then there are certain problems still persist in that field.

The New Education Policy 2020 is the first education policy of the 21st century and aims to address the many growing developmental imperatives of our country. This policy proposes the revision and revamping of all aspects of education structure, including its regulation and governance. Education policy lays particular emphasis on the development of the creative potential of each individual. Gender inclusion provisions were also mentioned in this policy

NEP aims at full equity and inclusion as the cornerstone of all educational decisions to ensure that all students are able to thrive in the education system. A good education institution is one in which every student feels welcomed and cared for. This paper aims to look in to the provisions that are focussed to realise the equity in education especially with reference to the women education

Key words-Problems of women education, expansion of women education, equity and inclusion, governance, gender policy
